

Capital Plaza to Host $35,000 Fair Lanes LPBT Capitol Classic

The greatest women tenpin bowlers in the world will be competing in our area when the $35,000 LPBT Capitol Classic takes place at Capital Plaza July 10-14. This is a major stop on the Ladies Pro Bowlers Tour.

Some of the women who will be competing for the $7,000 top prize are Leila Wagner, a resident of Annapolis; Betty Morris (Stockton, Calif.), the 1987 Bowler of the Year; Lisa Wagner, (Palmetto, Fla.), the Seagram's Coolers U.S. Open champion; and Wendy Macpherson (San Diego), the 1988 WIBC Queens champion.

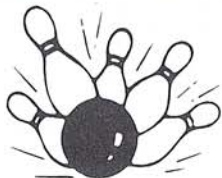

"We are very excited about the lady pros coming to the Baltimore/Washington area," said Jim Self, Fair Lanes Operations Vice President and Tournament Chairman. "The ladies put on a great bowling show, and I know everyone will enjoy watching them bowl."

Bowl with the Pros!

Area amateur bowlers will have an opportunity to compete with the greatest women bowlers in the world when the Fair Lanes Capitol Classic takes place July 10-14 at Capital Plaza. Adult and youth pro-am tournaments will precede the Ladies Pro Bowlers Tour stop on Sunday, July 10.

The youth pro-am will begin at 1:00 p.m. Youngsters bowl three games with the pros, receive a souvenir shirt, guest tickets, and a chance to win trophies. Entry fee is $20. Adult pro-am squads will follow at 3, 5, 7, and 9 p.m. Participants bowl three games with the pros, receive a souvenir jacket, guest tickets, and a shot at the $1,000 top prize. Entry fee is $65.

Entry forms for youth and adult pro-ams are available at all Fair Lanes centers.

Capital Plaza Hosts 4th Pro Event

The Capitol Classic will mark the fourth time that Capital Plaza has hosted a professional event. The PBA visited the Hyattsville center for the Fair Lanes Open in 1982 (won by Mal Acosta), 1984 (Dale Eagle), and 1987 (Randy Pedersen).

Fair Lanes' B/W Flip Flop?

Fair Lanes officials have indicated that they would like to alternate their men's and women's pro tournaments between Baltimore and Washington each year. This way, the fans will have a pro event in their city to look forward to, and they'll get to watch their favorite male and female pros.
