
Harris scores 299 at ABC Tourney

A stubborn 4-pin kept Anthony Harris, a 49-year-old UPS load supervisor from Alexandria, from perfection at the ABC Tournament. Nevertheless, he rolled the 11th 299 game at the Knoxville (Tenn.) Convention Center May 1.

"It's funny. In the doubles I didn't even shoot 500," he said. "Then I come back and shoot the first 11 and shoot 700. It's just funny how that happens."

Harris rolled 163-154-158/475 in doubles. He made an adjustment at the tail end of that series, and it paid big dividends, netting him a 710 series with games of 299-232-179.

knew my spares would take care of themselves."

Harris knew coming into the tournament that it wouldn't be easy to put up a big score.

"You come here from your bowling center, and the shot is set up a certain way," Harris said. "You can master it in a couple of shots. Here, you can try different balls, and it still won't work. It's just a tough shot."

"I made a move on my last spare shot in doubles," Harris said. "I watched the ball reaction when I threw it, and I said, 'OK, that's where I want to throw the ball.' Once I found a comfortable shot, I
